

Spanish for travellers

Sucre, Bolivia

Learn the essential “Spanish for travellers” in one of Latin Americas most beautiful and welcoming cities.

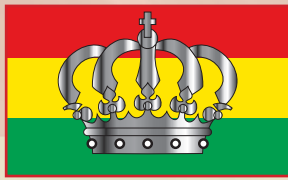

Study in the mild climate amongst the charming UNESCO world heritage listed Capital with its vibrant nightlife and colourful markets. Our professional and enthusiastic teachers will not only cater to your individual level of need, but will also introduce you to the culture and customs both locally and nationally, giving you plenty of opportunities to refine your language skills in real life situations.

For one to one private tuition, please telephone us so we can discuss your needs and build an itinerary around you.

From as little as US $80 per person per week.

What else we offer:

Homestay's are a great way to really immerse yourself into the Bolivian culture and of course to improve your Spanish skills with your host family, an opportunity which is not normally afforded to most tourists.

Hotel/hostel accommodation can be arranged for those who require a little more privacy. Feel free to contact us in advance and discuss your needs. We can arrange the most desirable accommodation to suit your budget.

Voluntary work For a truly rewarding experience, we offer opportunities for you to work with some of Bolivia's most underprivileged children. It's a fabulous interchange where the kids benefit from your devotion and skills, whilst you continue to practice your Spanish.

From as little as US $80 per person per week.
